S3 AeroDefense Expands North American Corporate Headquarters to Support Rapid Growth

Milwaukee, WI, USA – March 25, 2021 – S3 AeroDefense has announced the expansion of its facilities at corporate headquarters. The development will double the warehouse and service space, supporting the company’s growth strategy. With the additional space S3 will be able to meet the rapidly expanding demand for the high level of service excellence and quick turnaround times that its clients are already accustomed to.

“The decision to invest in expanding our presence and capabilities was a logical step in our business strategy,” said Jeff Wnuk, Vice President of Operations at S3 AeroDefense. “We have the opportunity to increase our ability to service current and future markets, and that is something we are more than prepared for, this expansion is all a part of our long-term plan and empowers our team to meet the needs of our partners.”

The new facilities, located in Milwaukee, WI, will be equipped with state-of-the-art logistics and the new space will increase the company shipping and receiving square footage by 55%. The expansion will be the center for the support and service teams, with S3 maintaining their global presence with employees across the globe. S3 remains privately owned and business projections are anticipating strong numbers continuing beyond the next 24 months. To celebrate over 16 years of business, the company recently underwent a rebranding to support their new position in the market place as one of the leading providers of aircraft spares, component repair services and supply chain solution to Military Aircraft Operators.
